Spy Hunters Question Ex-Code Clerk

Rendezvous Point In Canada Is Kept Secret

MONTREAL (AP)—U. S. Senate spy hunters questioned former Russian code clerk Igor Gouzenko today about Soviet espionage in North America.

Atmosphere of the rendezvous was as clandestine as the confines of the Russian embassy in Ottawa from which Gouzenko fled in 1945 with documents that led to spy arrests in Canada, the United States and Britain.

Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.), chairman of the U. S. Senate subcommittee on Internal Security, Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.), former subcommittee chairman, acting counsel Jay G. Sourwine and a reporter arrived from Washington Sunday to conduct the quiz.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police named by the government to supervise the interrogation, seemed disturbed that even the senators' presence in Canada had leaked out. This "break" came from Washington.

Vanish in Snowstorm

An RCMP station wagon took the Americans from Central Station to the Windsor Hotel where two suites had been reserved by R. Douglas Stuart, U. S. ambassador to Canada. They left the hotel with Stuart in a U. S. consulate limousine at 4:30 p. m. and "vanished" in a snowstorm.

It was believed the limousine took the investigators to a rendezvous point and that the questioning would begin today. It was impossible, however, to pinpoint the location; it could be in the Montreal area, or across the border in Ontario.

Jenner himself told reporters at the railroad station that he didn't know where the interview would be held.

Canadian government fears of possible "revenge" against Gouzenko for his sensational disclosures were behind the stringent security precautions taken by the RCMP.

Led to Spy Trials

Asked how long they planned to be in Canada, Sen. Jenner replied: "Until our mission is accomplished."

Documents stuffed in Gouzenko's shirt when he fled the Soviet embassy led to the celebrated Canadian spy trials of 1946, the arrest and conviction of Americans Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, and the imprisonment of British scientist Dr. Klaus Fuchs.

Jenner, whose requests to interview the former code clerk caused a month-long squabble between Canada and the U. S., had said he believed Soviet spy rings still operated in both countries and he believed Gouzenko could supply "important" information on the methods they would be using.

Eldorado Company Denies Rumors of Plans to Cut Off Water to Truckers

Contrary to some prevalent rumors, the Eldorado Water Co. is not contemplating cutting off water to truckers.

The report had been heard in Harrisburg but a check with the water company office at Eldorado said the rumor was unfounded, that there are no plans at present to cut off this water, which goes into the rural areas for the most part.

U.S. Fears Russia Will Try To Scuttle Atom Talks with Demand to Ban A-Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials were increasingly fearful today that the Russians will try to scuttle the President's atom-for-peace plan by demanding a preliminary ban on use of atomic weapons.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles hopes to get some solid idea of Moscow's attitude when he sees Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Berlin Jan. 25.

The diplomatic sources said there now is growing apprehension that the Russians will use the private talks to push their proposed atomic ban and to block the atomic pool for peace.

The free world has never agreed to the Soviet proposal because it fails to provide for international inspection without which Allied officials feel a ban would be meaningless.

Bohlen Meets With Molotov

As a matter of fact, it was partly to get around this very impasse that Mr. Eisenhower submitted his pool plan in a speech to the United Nations Dec. 8. He suggested that the atomic powers of the world lay the groundwork for future cooperation by pooling some of their atomic materials for peaceful purposes.

Russia replied Dec. 21 with a statement saying it was ready to take part in "confidential or diplomatic talks" on the proposal. But it coupled the statement with a renewal of the familiar Communist demand for an "unconditional" ban on atomic weapons.

Charles E. Bohlen, U. S. ambassador to Moscow, explored the problem in a 30-minute conference New Year's Eve with Molotov. Bohlen said the session did not cover the question of negotiations but only "how to get started."

There was no possibility Dulles would agree at this time to a ban on atomic weapons as the price for launching the Chief Executive's proposal with Russian participation.

18 New Pupils at Dorrisville from Housing Project

Families have started moving in to the 94-unit Public Housing development in Dorrisville and Dorrisville school has started bulging as a result.

Brose Phillips, school principal, said that 18 new pupils, with at least one new one in every grade, enrolled at Dorrisville school this morning, the first day of classes following the Christmas holidays.

"It's like a first day of school around here," he commented.

Julius Steinmarch, executive secretary of the Saline County Housing authority, said that 16 units of the Dorrisville development were occupied with families, although the scheduled time to start occupying the units is still a few days off.

"We had some emergency cases where it was expedient for families to come in early and we let them move," he said. "We have 80 applications for units and in the next couple of days we expect to have people moving in at a fast clip."

He estimated that 50 per cent of the families applying are veterans, who receive preference among the applicants.

There are 16 applications for the 22 units in the Byington Addition of Harrisburg. Steinmarch said, with three families already in and six more ready to move.

At Eldorado, where a 64-unit development has been completed, 60 families are living there at present, with the larger, four-bedroom units the ones that are not yet occupied, Steinmarch stated.

American Tells Of 34 Months In Red Prison

HONG KONG (AP)—An American businessman, jailed for 34 months in Red China, said today an average of 15 inmates died daily in Shanghai's infamous Ward Road Prison during one winter.

Arnold M. Kiehn, originally of Santa Barbara, Calif., was released Sunday by the Communists. He said he had been imprisoned on trumped-up charges of illegally possessing firearms.

Kiehn, 41, said he preferred not to talk about his treatment at the hands of the Communists because "I must think about those still up there."

"I would not want anyone to suffer because of something I said," Kiehn said.

He revealed, however, that prisoners kept track of their fellow inmates and estimated that at least 15 persons had died every day during the winter.

He said his weight dropped from 195 pounds to about 90 pounds during his first year in prison, but later the Communists gave him more food. He now weighs 160 pounds.

Was Not Beaten

Kiehn said the Communists put him in handcuffs for long periods and frequently placed him in chains. He said, however, he never was beaten while a prisoner.

Kiehn said he knew nothing of the whereabouts of Richard Applegate, a former United Press war correspondent who was seized by the Communists while sailing on his boat between Hong Kong and Macao with International News Service writer Don Dixon and merchant sea Capt. Ben Krasner. They were jailed on "espionage" charges.

Applegate, Dixon and Krasner have been reported in various jails, including Shanghai and Peiping, by travelers arriving in Hong Kong from Red China.

Kiehn, son of missionaries who now live in Formosa, said he had lived 20 years in China. When arrested he had been in the process of divorcing his wife and did not know whether he now was married or not.

Auto is Stolen, Second Broken Into

An auto was stolen and another was broken into in Eldorado Saturday night, Sheriff Paul Spangler reported today.

Stolen was a Kaiser auto belonging to Austin Cox, taken from his parking place up town. It had not been recovered this morning.

Broken into was an auto owned by Harry Bozarth of Harrisburg, which had been driven to Eldorado by his son, Dick. The car had been parked and locked but it was broken into and two overcoats, belonging to Bozarth and his companion, Ronald Lee, were taken.

The overcoats were found later in an alley in Eldorado.

New Haven Man Dies

He is survived by his wife, Alice; one daughter, Mrs. Ida Threat, and a brother, George Merritt.

New Year's Death Toll in Illinois is 30

One of Worst Records in Nation; 25 Killed in Traffic

By United Press

Illinois chalked up one of the worst New Year's holiday accident records in the nation, a survey showed today.

At least 30 persons were killed between 6 p. m. Thursday and midnight Sunday, 26 of them in traffic accidents.

Only Texas with 26 highway deaths had as bloody a weekend on the roads. California also had 22 traffic deaths.

Three of the Illinois deaths were caused by fire. There was one accidental gunshot victim.

Meanwhile, it was feared that four residents of the state were killed when a light plane crashed into Lake Pontchartrain near New Orleans, La.

Continue Search for Bodies

The plane's passengers were bound home from the Sugar Bowl game. Coast Guard searches found the body of the pilot, Marvin E. Gray of East St. Louis.

It was believed that Mrs. Gray and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Marling Haus, also of East St. Louis, were lost in the big lake and a search for their bodies continued.

Among the latest holiday deaths within the state were:

Edmund Freeman, 34, Chicago, who was killed when his car overturned Sunday in Oak Lawn.

Clyde Emerick, 28, Brookfield, killed Sunday when his car went out of control in Brookfield.

Adolph Ringenstein, 77, New Athens, Ill., struck by a car at Freeburg, Ill., Sunday.

Robert E. Wallick, 39, Galesburg, killed Sunday when his car went off a highway and into a creek.

One of the holiday weekend's worst tragedies took place near Peoria Saturday night when a man cut for a spin in his new foreign-made sports car collided head-on with another car on Ill. 24.

The crash killed John Norton, 39, Washington, Ill., Mrs. Erma Sprinkle, 26, Eureka, and Edward Marshall, 11, Washington, instantly.

Mrs. Sprinkle's son, James Jr., 4, died Sunday of injuries suffered in the collision.

State police said they believed Norton apparently invited the Marshall boy to take a ride in the recently purchased sports car. Mrs. Sprinkle's husband, James, 28, and their 3-year-old daughter, Patricia, were injured, Sprinkle critically.

Mrs. Louella Sargent, 81, was struck and killed by a car near her Princeton home and Kathryn Parsons, 17, died when her pickup truck skidded into a ditch at Paxton.

Death Takes Mrs. M. E. Morse, 81, Eldorado Resident

Mrs. M. E. Morse

Mrs. Lillie Morse, 81, wife of Rev. M. E. Morse, died at their home, 1321 First street, Eldorado, at 10:30 yesterday morning. Her death was due to a paralytic stroke.

She is survived by her husband, Rev. Morse, well known retired Presbyterian minister and school teacher who had been the pastor of a number of churches and who had taught in the public schools in this area, and the following children: Miss Pearl Morse at home, Randall Morse, Havana, Harry Morse, Tucson, Ariz., Lowell and Ed Morse, both of Saginaw, Mich., and Mrs. Gertrude Wood of Richmond Heights, Mo. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Nora Barger, West Frankfort, six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

GETTING THE "FEEL" OF FREEDOM—Pfc. Claude Batchelor, of Kermitt, Tex., second of two Americans to leave a Communist prison compound, gets the feel of newly issued American clothing after three years of wearing Red prison garb, as he appears at a press conference in Seoul. Batchelor, who asked to be returned on New Year's morning, said his Japanese wife's tearful "come home" letter made him change his mind about staying with the Communists. (NEA Radio-Telephoto)

GOP, Demos in Dispute Over 1954 Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic - Republican debate over the economic outlook for 1954 raged unabated today on the eve of the second session of the 83rd Congress.

Republicans forecast "generally good times" ahead and said they were prepared to take any action necessary to head off a depression. But Democrats warned the country is in a "recession" now and government action is needed quickly to prevent the situation from getting worse.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) warned against talking "ourselves into an economic sag." He said there "certainly will have to be an adjustment from the wartime high but I think the fundamental American economy is sound."

However, Sens. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) and Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said the United States is in a recession and the government had better do something fast to keep it from spreading.

Sparkman said in television interview Sunday NBC "Youth Wants to Know," that farmers and small businessmen have been hit hardest. He said "they are in considerable chaos" and should be helped through extended government credit.

Douglas said on an MBS radio broadcast there is "some danger of a vicious downward spiral developing unless further steps are taken." He said the Commerce Department may have been one million too low when it estimated November unemployment at 1,400,000.

Rep. Martin Says Program Is 'Dynamic'

President to Make 15-Minute Report To Nation Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower presented the broad outlines of his administration program to Republican leaders today, and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. predicted it will be "well received" by the country.

Martin hailed the Eisenhower program as "dynamic and progressive."

The President spent nearly 2 1/2 hours this morning going over a 15-minute report to the nation tonight and his State of the Union message with GOP House and Senate leaders and the Cabinet.

Martin disclosed that the State of the Union message will definitely go to Congress at 12:30 p. m. Thursday, to be followed Jan. 11 by two special messages outlining a new agricultural program and suggested amendments to the Taft-Hartley Labor-Management Act.

The budget for fiscal 1955, beginning July 1, will be submitted to Congress Jan. 21 and on Jan. 28, the President will submit his economic report to the House and Senate.

Martin called this morning's conference a "very interesting resume" of the proposed 1954 program.

"It is a dynamic, progressive program and one that will be well received by the country," the Massachusetts Republican said.

Chairman Daniel Reed (R-N.Y.), of the House Ways and Means Committee, came out still holding to the view that taxes can be cut more. Asked whether taxes were discussed in the meeting, he replied:

"I'm taking this occasion to wish the American people, and that includes the press, a happy and prosperous new year and congratulate them on prospective tax relief."

The President reviewed the State of the Union message completely, and also gave the Cabinet members an opportunity to discuss their specific participation in the new program with the men who will have to lead the drive for laws to make the program possible.

Plans Special Messages

The President will meet with both Democratic and Republican leaders Tuesday—one day before the opening of the second and showdown session of the 83rd Congress in this election year.

At today's meeting Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President did not read the actual State of the Union message in its entirety, but went over it section by section with the leaders and the Cabinet.

Later in January, and possibly extending into early February, Mr. Eisenhower plans special messages to Congress on housing, taxes, and health. The latter will include proposed changes in the social security law.

The State of the Union message and the special televised and radio broadcast report Mr. Eisenhower will make tonight to the public were written largely at Augusta, Ga., during Christmas week when the chief executive had his top staff advisers at the winter White House.

To the mood of the conferees was deadly serious. They were aware that the record they write in the session of Congress opening Wednesday may well decide the Republican Party's fate in November's congressional elections. They were conscious too of their own deep divisions, the increasing resistance of the Democrats, and the great controversies to be resolved.

The President's radio-television address tonight, an unprecedented move on the eve of a congressional session—will be a summary of the administration's accomplishments to date and a general outline of its hopes for 1954—especially in the field of foreign affairs, taxes, agriculture, labor, business and housing.

File Two Complaints

Two complaints charging driving while intoxicated were filed Saturday in county court. They were directed at Lyman D. Helton and Orville Hill. Helton was arrested Friday night on Route 13 east of Harrisburg by state police. Hill by state and county officers one mile west of Raleigh.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON says: Ike, Wiser And More Determined After Year In Office, Knows '54 Must Be Year Of Achievement; His Program Excellent, But Can He Put It Across?

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—A considerably wiser and much more determined Dwight Eisenhower faces the year 1954. He knows that if he is to make his place in history as a president, he must do it this year. If he does not put across his program this year it will be too late. He knows 1954 must be the year of achievement.

The other day Eisenhower had a conversation with a close friend which gives significant insight into to his current thinking. "If I had remained a military man," was the burden of his thought, "my record would have stood alongside that of any of our great military figures."

He went on to cite Lee, Grant, and even George Washington as military men with whom his own military record might compare. Then he said that, since he had become president he realized his place in history would not be based on his record as a military man but on his record as a president. There was a slight note of sadness in the President's tone as he said this, as if he were slightly sorry he had allowed himself to be drafted for the presidency. But there was also a note of determination—that he was not going to let his record as president be one of failure—was the most significant part of the conversation.

In brief, Dwight Eisenhower knows he is up against the gun in the coming session of Congress and is determined to do something about it.

KNOW-HOW NEEDED
The big question is can he do what he wants to do. The program he has outlined for the coming session is an excellent one. But can he put it across? Does he have, along with his sincerity, idealism and good will, the civilian know-how that it takes to do battle in the halls of Congress just as the military know-how was essential to do battle in the trenches of Europe?

Partial Answer No. 1—Lies in the fact that Congressman Dan Reed of Dunkirk, N. Y., cantankerous 78-year-old chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means committee, did not take the trouble to attend the recent White House conferences on new legislation. Uncle Dan knew all about the conferences weeks in advance and was urged to attend. Instead he sailed off for a vacation in Panama—after telling congressional colleagues that he planned to write his own new tax bill.

Since taxes are near the heart of Ike's legislative program and since many people voted for Ike in order to get taxes reduced, Dan Reed's cooperation is vital. And Dan Reed won't cooperate. He didn't cooperate at the last session and he won't cooperate at the coming session. Yet he is one of the leaders of the Republican party.

At the last session of Congress, the Democrats actually rescued the administration's tax program. Since then Attorney General Brownell has leveled spy charges at the Democrats which have made even the most conservative southerners sore and future cooperation is going to be more difficult.

BUDGET-MESSAGE MIXUP
Answer No. 2—Another partial answer as to whether Ike can put across his program lies in an incident that occurred at the last session of Congress when the President's budget message went out of its way to rap the financial mess left behind by the Democrats. This was one reason, the President stated, that it would be difficult for him to balance the budget.

This dig at the Dems caused ex-Speaker Sam Rayburn to take the floor and denounce the budget message and Eisenhower for trying to alibi in advance for budget failure.

After his speech, Rayburn got a phone call from the President himself. "I thought you and I had always been friends," the President told Rayburn. And he invited him to come to breakfast next morning.

At breakfast, Eisenhower expressed some concern over the ex-Speaker's speech, said he hoped he could have the Democratic leader's nonpartisan support. In reply Rayburn said he was anxious to support Eisenhower as long as Eisenhower remained nonpartisan, but that his gratuitous crack at the Democrats in the budget message was not nonpartisan. And Rayburn quoted from the budget message to prove it.

"I never even saw it!" exclaimed the President. Rayburn was convinced Ike was telling the truth. Previous presidents, the ex-Speaker knew, had taken more care with their budget messages than any other single move. Roosevelt used to bring in the press and hold an hour-long special conference, explaining each major item in the budget in advance of release. Truman did the same. But Dwight Eisenhower confessed that he didn't know what was in his own budget message to Congress.

GOOD NEW START
This word, that the President does not know about some of the major moves drafted by his subordinates, has permeated Capitol Hill and is one reason why the legislative program gets bogged down. Congressmen are beginning to ask: "Is this the President's move or Humphrey's?" The President's name is signed to this but does he know about it?

Answer No. 3—Lies in the fact that every President must get his main legislative program passed the first year. But like the first year pass without much accomplishment. During the first year his popularity was overwhelming, his prestige too great for Congress to buck. Now the Gallup poll shows it has dropped.

Congress answers to the call of a strong leader. If the leader falters, congressional loyalty evaporates.

In the last few weeks the President has made a good start toward a new start, and by prodigious effort he may be able to retrieve the delays and errors of 1953. Upon his success depends Republican victory in the next two elections and Ike's own place in history.

Navy Abandons Plans for Giant Atomic Subs

Favor Pocket-sized Editions of Nautilus To Be Launched Jan. 21

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The Navy, ready to enter the era of atomic power, has decided in favor of maneuverability rather than big size in the atomic submarines of the future.

As a result, submarines now on naval drawing boards are but pocket-sized editions of the Nautilus, the world's first atomic submarine which will be launched Jan. 21.

The decision to concentrate on smaller, highly-maneuverable submarines settles a long-standing controversy within the Navy over which course to take now that it has mastered the problem of how to harness the atom to drive underwater craft.

One faction contended atomic power opened the way for the Navy to go underground not only with attack submarines, but also with larger missile-carrying vessels to replace the carriers and cruisers.

With the completion of the Nautilus and her sister ship, the Sea Wolf, there were proposals that a "super" atomic submarine weighing 6,000 tons and capable of making 35 knots underwater be built.

Would be "sitting duck" The submarine would have been in effect, a submerged light cruiser, heavily armed with guided missiles as well as torpedoes.

Veteran submariners, accustomed to fighting as lone wolves beneath the seas, protested successfully, however, that the "super" submarine would be so large it would be a "sitting duck" for enemy attackers. What they wanted was an atomic submarine small enough so that it could sneak in to a target, attack and then quickly steal away out-manoeuvring enemy destroyers or planes.

A high Navy official, closely connected with submarine planning, said the present goal is an atomic submarine about the size of the latest fleet-type submarines, or about 1,800 tons and 270 feet long. In contrast to the 40-million-dollar cost of the Nautilus, naval planners believe the smaller atomic submarines of the future can be built for around 20-million-dollars, close to the cost of conventional submarines.

Virginia Man Wins Title of Champion Liar

BURLINGTON, Wis., Dec. 14.—A Virginian today captured the title of world's champion liar for 1953 with a whooper about the wind and a superlative wash kettle.

Lee McIntyre, Richmond, Va., won the 24th annual Burlington Liar's Club competition with this free-style fib:

"The strongest wind I ever heard of hit our place last summer, along with a slam-bang thunder storm.

"The wind was so strong it picked up our cast iron wash kettle—which is about 3 feet across and about 2 feet deep—and blew it out of the country.

"The wind blew that kettle so fast that while it was sailing across our front yard, the lightning struck at it five times—and missed."

To Get Lyre-Shape Medal

For his lie, McIntyre will get the traditional lyre-shaped champion's medal from the Burlington Club. He'll hold the title during 1954, succeeding A. L. C. Harry Cummings, Dallas, Tex., whose whooper about mosquitoes won him the 1953 title.

McIntyre's fib also captured for the eastern part of the country one of the first Burlington titles in recent years. Westerners in the past have won some of the most perfectly-formed lies submitted to the club.

Midwesterners supplied two of the best "honorable mention" lies from this year's crop of several thousand.

One, about cold weather, came from E. P. Waters, Sioux City.

Following the dinner a punch bowl was set up on the buffet table. During the social evening, gifts were exchanged by members and mystery sisters revealed. New mystery sisters were drawn for the coming year.

Wallace Urges Farm Plan Along Lines of 1930s

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Wallace said today that if the Republicans enact a farm program along the lines the Democrats "laid down during the 30s, they will improve their position very materially."

He indicated he thinks the GOP Congress will meet the farm problem "head on" and continue the present system of rigid, high price supports for basic crops.

Wallace, secretary of agriculture in the first two Roosevelt administrations and later vice president, made the statement in a copyrighted interview for U. S. News & World Report, a weekly news magazine.

Meanwhile, two Republican senators — Homer Ferguson (Mich.) and Alexander Wiley (Wis.) — flatly predicted Congress will not lower the present 90 per cent parity price on six basic agricultural commodities.

They were joined by a top GOP farm leader in the House who said Congress would vote down any administration request for a system of lower and flexible price guarantees for farmers. The congressman, who declined use of his name, said a clash between Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson and Congress appears inevitable. But he hoped President Eisenhower would stay out of it.

No Final Answer
Benson has criticized the present support system, charging that it causes high prices to consumers and huge surpluses which force farmers under production controls.

Wallace said there is "no final answer" to the farm problem and that continuing the 90 per cent parity price indefinitely may result in an "abnormal granary, with supplies . . . so large that the resulting situation might become a scandal."

He said there are many hungry people abroad who could use some of this country's farm overflow. However, "We can't think . . . of taking on the burden of those needy people indefinitely."

"But for the next few years certainly it would seem that where there's starvation these surpluses should be made available in some way," Wallace said. He thought the Democrats "made a rather serious mistake when they turned down to President Eisenhower unlimited power to use those surpluses."

New 1954 Fords will Be Displayed in Dealers' Showrooms Wednesday

The 1954 Ford passenger cars, to be introduced to the public in Ford dealers' showrooms all over the nation Wednesday, Jan. 6, will feature the following Ford exclusives in the high volume field:

An entirely new 130 h.p. Y-block V-8 engine with overhead valves. A new 115 h.p. I-block Mileage Maker Six engine, noted for economy.

New ball-joint front suspension which Ford engineers call the greatest advance in front suspension in 20 years.

The Skyliner—an entirely new hardtop model with tinted, transparent plastic roof over the driving compartment.

A smart new Ford Sunliner convertible with an unusual transparent plastic panel inserted in the top over the front seat to provide overhead visibility.

Four new power-operated driving assists: Power brakes, power steering, 4-way power seat, power-lift windows.

Fordomatic transmission.

The new models will be displayed locally by Barham-Green garage.

"The two new Ford engines for 1954—the Y-block V-8 and the I-block Mileage Maker Six—have been under development for the past six years," L. D. Cruise, vice-president, Ford Motor company, and general manager of Ford Division, said.

L. W. Smead, Ford Division general sales manager, pointed out that Ford's new overhead valve Y-block V-8 engine, with its deep-block construction, is of modern, short-stroke, low-friction, high-compression design. It has a compression ratio of 7.2 to 1 and is smoother, quieter and gives more responsive power with greater economy and longer life than last year's engine. It rates 130 brake horsepower, up 20 horsepower over the 1953 L-head V-8.

The new I-block 115 h.p. Mileage Maker Six also is a completely modern high-compression, low-friction engine. It rates 14 horsepower more than the 1953 Ford Six and, like the Y-block V-8, it is an "over-square" engine—that is the diameter of the cylinder is greater than the stroke of the piston.

According to Mr. Smead, the new ball-joint suspension makes the 1954 Ford the most comfortable and easiest handling Ford ever built. Exclusive to Ford in the high volume field, the ball-joint suspension replaces the older type king-pin suspension. The new system permits up and down movement of the front wheels through the ball-joints as the wheels travel over rough spots or directional movement as wheels turn right or left in steering.

Three New Body Types
In its 1954 passenger cars, Ford again is offering three lines—Mainline, Customline and Crestline—with 14 body styles. Three new body types added this year are the Crestline Skyliner with the transparent roof and a Crestline Fordor Sedan, featuring luxurious interior trim formerly found only in costly limousines. A new Customline two-door station wagon similar to the four-door Country Sedan in trim and interior appointments has been added to the three Ford station wagons previously available. This is called the Customline Ranch Wagon.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Barnes and family and Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Forwe and sons had as Christmas day guests her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hicks of Gaskins City.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Nelson and son, Dwight, spent Christmas in Herod, the guests of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Young. Other guests of the Youngs were Mr. and Mrs. Arza Banks.

Supreme Court Upholds Domestic Social Security Tax

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court today rejected a challenge to the constitutionality of the social security tax as applied to domestic employees in a private home.

The court's brief order left standing a lower court ruling that the tax is valid.

The issue was brought to the high bench by a rebellious housewife from Marshall, Tex., Mrs.
Carlyn M. Abney, and her husband
James K. Abney.

Under a 1950 revision of the social security law, domestics contribute 1 per cent of their salaries toward retirement. The amount is withheld by employers, who contribute a like sum.

The Abneys failed to pay $12.57 in such taxes in 1951. The amount was seized from their bank account by the government. The couple sued for a refund. June 30, 1952, Federal Judge William H.
Atwell ruled against them and was upheld by the Fifth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

The Supreme Court already has upheld the validity of the tax as applied to employers and employees in a business. For instance, they said, there is discrimination against a domestic employer because he may not deduct the payments when figuring his income tax the way a business man may.

463 New Year's Holiday Deaths

By United Press

New Year's holiday traffic deaths reached a final total of 320 today and safety experts said the nation's motorists deserve a qualified "pat on the back."

A United Press tabulation showed that 320 persons were killed in traffic between 6 p. m. last Thursday and midnight Sunday. Fires killed 41, plane crashes 15, and miscellaneous accidents 87 for a total of 463.

Texas and Illinois led in highway deaths with 26 each. New York state had 24 and California 22.

The National Safety Council had estimated that 360 would die in New Year's traffic.

Five Children Die in Flash Fire

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Maine
— Five children—four brothers and a sister—perished today when a flash fire from a defective oil heater demolished their home at this beach resort.

The little girl was to have celebrated her seventh birthday today.
It was the second such fire on the same street. Four children died in a similar fire 10 years ago.

Victims of today's blaze, children of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Whitcomb, were: John R. Howard 5, Allan 4, Irving 3, and their sister Diana 7.

Europe Hit by Winter Storms

LONDON (CP) — Winter hit Europe with a sudden rush today, bringing snow, wind, floods, North Sea storms and the highest tides since those which killed 1,700 persons in 1953.

England's east coast bore the brunt of tide and wind, the outgrowth of a storm spawned far to the north after three months of unseasonably warm weather.

On the continent, snow fell from Norway to Italy to replace the scenes where two weeks ago strawberries were ripening and hardy swimmers bathing. The Germans called it "Russian winter."

In the North Sea and adjacent waters a number of small ships were reported in distress as winds up to 60 to 80 miles an hour howled themselves out.

Two Boys Held for Theft, Eldorado Girls Held as Witnesses

Deputy Sheriff Isham Threet, who went to Paris, Ill., Saturday to pick up two boys and two girls who had run off from Eldorado, returned without them as they were turned over to the sheriff at Beadstown.

The boys, Sheriff Paul Spangler said, were wanted in connection with the theft of wearing apparel from a Beadstown warehouse and the girls were kept for witnesses.

The boys were Lester Fox of Beadstown and Bill Roberts of Eldorado, who went to Eldorado from Beadstown and picked up the girls. Their car broke down in Indiana near Paris, Ill., and they were held there.

Rites at Galatia For Baker Infant

A short funeral service was held today for Carol Ann Baker, one-day old daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Alan Baker of Virden, Ill. The mother is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Milligan, former residents of Galatia, but now of Johnston City.

The baby died yesterday in the Springfield Memorial hospital, Springfield, and was returned to Galatia to the Courtney funeral home. Burial was in the Ebenezer cemetery.

Young Hastings was visiting at the home of relatives when he left to go hunting and they heard a shot. When he failed to return, a search was made until midnight.

Clean Marble Nose On Truman Bust, Tweaked by Tourists

WASHINGTON — The marble nose on former President Truman's bust in the Capitol has been scrubbed spotlessly clean for the new session of Congress.

The bust, just outside the Senate chamber, had to be given a special washing during recess because the nose was so dirty. Tourists loved to tweak it.

The fad started sometime ago when Mr. Truman said he would like a punch a Washington music critic in the nose.

Presumably the tweaking was divided between the affectionate pats of Democrats and the less sympathetic tweaks of Republicans.

State Rep. Preihs Is Fined in Court

TAYLORVILLE, Ill. — State
Rep. Carl H. Preihs (D-Pana) paid a $10 fine on a contempt of court charge Sunday.

Pana Police Magistrate Richard
Kasten, who assessed the fine, said Preihs swore and strode out of the court room while defending a client.

An agent of Preihs paid the fine to Sheriff Leonard Norris.

Paulton Youth is Fatally Injured While Hunting

MARION, Ill. — Loren R.
Hastings, 16, Paulton, was killed Sunday when his shotgun discharged accidentally while he was hunting. Williamson County Coroner Sam Simmons said today.

The youth was fatally wounded at the top of a bluff and he fell about 30 feet to the bottom where the body was found by two of his uncles, Wayne Hastings and Riley Schubert, today.

Young Hastings was visiting at the home of relatives when he left
to go hunting and they heard a shot. When he failed to return, a search was made until midnight.

Simmons said the dead youth was struck in the face by the charge from the 12 gauge double-barrel shotgun.

An inquest was scheduled at 5
p. m. today.

West Upsets East, 31-7, in Shrine Contest

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The heroes of the 29th annual East-West Shrine game were en route home today from the football game, nobody loses, the West having out scored the East 31-7.

The game, which pits the stars of non-bowl teams against each other for the benefit of the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children, was witnessed by 62,000 fans in jam-packed Kezar Stadium Saturday and by untold thousands of others by the medium of television.

It was the West's 14th victory in the series, the East having won 11 times with four contests being ties.

The 1954 version of "football's finest hour" was an easy upset for the West which travelled to victory on the passing arm of Stanford's Bobby Garrett and the running legs of Veryl Switzer of Kansas State.

Garrett Voted Most Valuable

Garrett, who led the nation in passing this season, made completion after completion as he maneuvered his hard-charging West team to a runaway win. In addition he scored a touchdown on a bootleg play and converted twice.

The blond Stanford quarterback was voted the most valuable player in this year's classic. End Carlton Massey of Texas received the award as the most valuable lineman for his brilliant pass receiving and rough defensive work.

The other half of the West's one-two offensive punch was Switzer, a squat 180-pound halfback who scored the first two West touchdowns and averaged 8.9 yards every time he carried the ball.

Until kickoff time Saturday it was expected that the big East line would push the West around, but within minutes after the game started it was obvious that the pushing would be done in the opposite direction.

Worden Scores for East

The West scored the only touchdown of the first half when Switzer raced out of the hands of three tacklers on a 24-yard scoring romp.

In the third quarter, after Cotton Davidson of Baylor kicked a 27-yard field goal, Switzer took a pitchout and churned 17 yards for another score.

Al Talley of California scored from the two in the fourth period to run the score to 24-0.

Then came the only East score, a counter that was climaxed when quarterback Johnny Gramling of South Carolina passed to Neil Wende of Notre Dame in the end zone.

The final West tally came on a one-yard bootleg by Garrett.

Special Service

Steamship companies stressed "considerate service" in order to encourage women to travel on steamboats in 1900. A part of such service was exclusion of men from the dining room until all female passengers were seated.

Grid World Mourns Death of Gus Dorais Who Introduced Pass with Knute Rockne

DETROIT (AP)—The football world today mourned the death of Charles E. (Gus) Dorais, the man who revolutionized the game 30 seasons ago by introducing the forward pass as an offensive weapon.

Dorais, who later gained prominence as a coach of both college and professional football, died quietly Sunday morning at his home in suburban Birmingham at the age of 62. He had been ill for more than a year and weighed a mere 67 pounds at the time of death.

The Notre Dame great and former Detroit city councilman returned to Michigan a year ago on orders from his doctor. He had taken over an automobile dealership at Wabash, Ind., with one of his three sons, William, after coaching the Detroit Lions for five seasons.

Teamed With Rockne

Word of Dorais' death was passed during church services at the University of Detroit, where he coached football for 18 years. Funeral services will be held Wednesday.

A native of Chippewa Falls, Wis., the All-Wisconsin high school quarterback enrolled at Notre Dame in 1910. One of the first persons he met on the South Bend, Ind., campus was the immortal Knute Rockne, who formed the other half of the combination that ushered in a new era of football three seasons later.

In the summer of 1913, Dorais and Rockne, an end, perfected the forward pass while working at a resort near Sandusky, Ohio. That fall, their new weapon fell with resounding effectiveness on the mighty Cadets of Army who had scheduled the Irish as a "breather" that year.

Leaves Wife, Four Children

With Dorais pitching and Rockne catching, the pair completed 12 straight passes good for three touchdowns. The then unorthodox attack left the touted Cadets bewildered and demoralized, and resulted in a 35-13 upset victory for the underdog Irish.

One of the Cadets who watched his mates go down in defeat was an injured Army halfback by name of Dwight D. Eisenhower, now President of the United States.

After graduating in 1914, Dorais and Rockne played one season of professional football together. Then Dorais served as assistant coach to Rockne at Notre Dame before becoming head coach at Columbia College in Iowa.

Dorais coached at Gonzaga University in Spokane, Wash., from 1920 until he came to Detroit in 1925. His Titans won 101 games, lost 42 and tied seven.

Dorais' wife and their four children were at home when he died. Their youngest son, David, drowned at the age of 13 in 1947.

Eldorado Wins Tourney at Cairo; Trips Anna, 57 to 49, in Finals

Eldorado's Eagles brought home the championship of the four-team blind draw basketball tournament staged at Cairo Jan. 1 and 2 by defeating defending title holder Anna, 57-49, in the final game Saturday night.

Eldorado fans crowded on the floor as the final horn sounded to congratulate the Eagles and gave a roar of approval as Capt. Rex Long accepted the trophy.

In the consolation affair Metropolis won from the host school Cairo, 62-54. Eldorado had advanced into the finals by defeating Metropolis in the opening game Friday night, 58-55, and Anna became the other team in the title game with a win over Cairo, 75-71, in a thrilling overtime battle.

Eldorado Coach Al Adams started an all-senior five of Mackovjak, Smith, Omohundro, McRoy and Long and made only one substitution, using Cochran a large part of the game as Omohundro picked up three fouls in a hurry and finally fouled out late in the game.

Eagles Trail at Half

Anna Coach Bob Lewis started Bittle, Daisy, Coffman, Jobe and Isaacs and most of his substitutions were due to fouls. Three Anna players left the game in the late stages via the foul route as three boys had 15 of the 19 fouls against Anna.

The Eagles looked a little sluggish as the game got underway, but did manage to hold a 13-10 advantage at the end of the first period.

Things really looked bad for the local area boys in the second frame and at one time Anna led 24-10. However, the Eagles pulled themselves together and got back into contention.

The half ended with Eldorado trailing by only two points, 28-26.

In the second quarter Mackovjak, Eldorado's leading scoring threat, was having a bad time with his shots. On more than one occasion he had the ball to crawl out, after almost getting through the nets, but McRoy took up the slack and counted seven markers to keep the Eagles in the game.

The third quarter was a standoff, each team collecting 13 points and Eldorado still trailed at the end of three quarters of play, 41-39.

McRoy Paces Eagles

As the last quarter started Eldorado really came to life, tied the count 41-41 after a half minute of play, went in front 42-41, fell back 43-42, then scored nine straight points while holding Anna scoreless to take a commanding lead of 51-43 and was willing to trade points as time ran out.

McRoy, with eight field goals and four free tosses for a total of 20 points paced the Eagles to victory. He was tied for scoring honors by Daisy of Anna who hit nine times from the field and twice from the charity line in amassing his 20 markers.

In the consolation game Dwight Barthel raked up 28 points to pace Metropolis to a 62-54 win over Cairo. Harris, with 19 points, was top scorer for the losing Cairo team.

Metropolis led 17-9 at the quarter, 29-24 at half time and 45-39 at the end of three quarters of play.

Eldorado will play two games this week, travelling to Galatia Tuesday and hosting McLeansboro Friday.

LITTLE LIZ

This was Illinois' Capitol—200 Years Ago

Bishops Charles L. Street of Chicago, Charles A. Clough of Springfield and William L. Essex of Quincy are among those to attend a special session in the restored 18th century Capitol at Williamsburg, Virginia, during the assembly of the House of Bishops of the Episcopal Church at Williamsburg November 9 through 13. If the Bishops had lived 200 years ago this would have been their Capitol, for the Virginia colony included the territory which is now Illinois. Here Thomas Jefferson introduced his bill for freedom of religion, Patrick Henry made his fiery "If-This-Be-Treason" speech and George Mason signed unanimously his Bill of Rights, parent of the Federal Bill of Rights.

Moline Snaps LaGrange Win Streak, 60-59; Herrin Beats Centralia, 63-60 in Overtime

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—La Grange has been ousted from the thinning ranks of unbeaten Illinois prep basketball teams.

Moline snapped the defending state champions' string of 36 straight wins Saturday, spilling the Lions 60-59.

La Grange was ranked as the strongest team in Illinois in the latest ratings by the United Press Board of Coaches. Moline was No. 3.

Ted Caiazza, 6 foot 7 inch center for La Grange, managed to score but 17 points in the Moline contest. High man in the game was Moline's Bob Gunter, with 19 markers.

Moline held a 58-57 lead with two minutes left to play. Then La Grange forward Dave McKeage registered a basket to give the Lions the lead.

Herrin Trips Centralia

But it was short-lived. Hunter sank a free throw to tie the score. Then, with 35 seconds to play, Moline's Dick Dhabal tallied another free throw to win the contest.

Rockford West, Centralia and Barrington also absorbed surprising setbacks in Saturday prep cage action.

Rock Island, a "Sweet Sixteen" entry last spring which won only four of its first nine games this season, sprang a 42-41 upset on Rockford West. West had been unstoppable in seven outings.

Centralia, winner of its own holiday tourney, was dumped 63-60 in an overtime contest with Herrin. Herrin now has nine wins and has Another two-day tourney was completed at Cairo with Eldorado beating Anna-Jonesboro 57-49 for the championship. Metropolis thrashed Cairo 62-54 in the consolation final.

THE STORY: A "bulging briefcase" is an important clue in the murder of District Attorney Barnett Larkin. Larkin's wife Dina carried it to the home of her ex-husband Paul Flagg and then both she and the briefcase disappeared, leaving Larkin's body behind. Paul temporarily avoided suspicion by removing the body from his apartment, but police are closing in. Complicating matters is the arrival of Joey, small son of Dina and Paul, on a visit. Then Paul receives a visit from Willie Shad.

XVII
I removed the baseball from its cardboard box. "Here, Joey, I'll be busy for a few minutes." Joey jumped up and caught the underhand toss with his bare hands, then dropped down beside Grace amid the gayly colored comic books scattered on the grass. "Those your kids?" Willie Shad asked.

"Only the boy."
We went into my apartment. Willie Shad glanced about. "So you never heard of Willie Shad?" "Not much. Several years ago I worked for a while on the Raventon Star, so I got a line on our more prominent citizens. You're the lad who put gambling on an organized, big business basis in this area."

"Everything's big business these days," he said with pride. "Talking about business, me and you gonna do some. To me that briefcase is worth two grand."

"That's a lot of money for a briefcase."
"You can keep the briefcase. I got one home. Just give me what's in it, pal, for two grand."

I said: "When I worked on the Star, Barnett Larkin ran for district attorney for the first time. He promised the voters to put you in jail if he was elected."

"Barney was a good guy. Too bad he got knocked off."
"I mentioned Larkin because that briefcase belonged to either him or his wife."

"I don't know whose briefcase it is. What's in it is mine."
"Isn't that a coincidence? Hannah Kahn told me it was hers. George Maudson told me it was his."

"Pal, I can sit here and argue. That ain't my way. I pay for Furniture Styles Return to Comfort And Convenience

CHICAGO (AP)—American furniture designers have turned back the clock in 1954 styles. Chairs have backs and arms, and tables look like tables again.

A preview look at the styles featured at the annual winter furniture show in Chicago indicated that the "bucket on stilts" type is going to play a less prominent part in home decor.

In place of the high art and zany gimmicks of the post-war period is a return to the standards of comfort and convenience. The trend still is toward modern furniture. But the consumers, in the view of the furniture experts, are in revolt against the ultra-low pieces created for modern apartments and ranch houses.

The modern consumer, the experts said, is going for foam-rubber cushions and steering clear of strange, geometric designs.

Chairs and sofas shown at the Chicago show, which opened today and will run through Jan. 15, were still low and loungey—to fit under the picture windows of today. But there was less emphasis on the squat, low-slung Oriental types.

While the emphasis was on the tailored, modern styling, traditional furniture still was in demand. Walnut, cherry and birch were the most predominant woods, though mahogany and maple were popular.

Green, especially forest green, dominated the color preferences—both in the so-called class and mass markets. Forest tints and tones also were well-liked.

New lamps emphasized greater use of brass in combination with black wrought iron, white and other metals. These were highlighted by textured fabric shades. Appliance manufacturers again concentrated on greater built-in conveniences. Typical examples included a refrigerator with revolving shelves and another with an exterior door water faucet feeding from an interior container.

Youth is Charged With Trying to Slay Sweetheart

CHICAGO (AP)—Two notes written by a love-sick high school boy, charged with trying to slay his young sweetheart, showed today he planned to end both their lives because religious differences blocked their marriage.

The youth, 18-year-old James Lawrence Fitzhenry, bludgeoned Marlene Bubar, 16, with a jack handle in a parked car early Sunday and then chased her as she ran screaming along a North Side street.

Passersby Bennet Wexler and Hyman Wagner saved the girl's life by overpowering Fitzhenry.

Before the attack Fitzhenry wrote a note saying "I worship the ground she walks on. I love her and can't have her. Maybe in death I will."

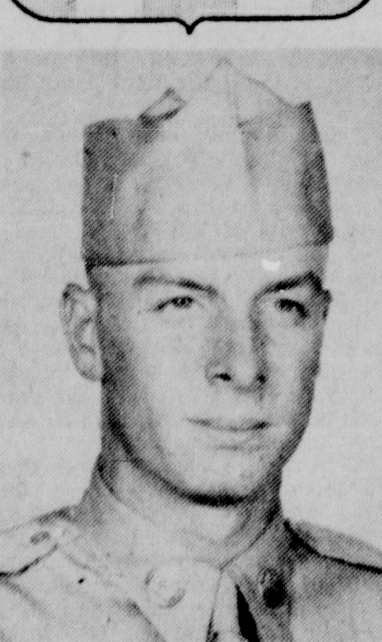

The sobbing youth, who was charged with assault with intent to commit murder, told police that he and Miss Bubar could not be married because she was Jewish and he was Baptist. He said both her parents and his opposed such a match.

He revealed that he planned to knock the girl unconscious with the jack handle and then drive to his father's garage and put her and himself to death with carbon monoxide.

Great Britain acquired the controlling shares in the Suez Canal when Benjamin Disraeli was prime minister.

Ike Needs Real Support In His Legislative Program

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Harassment from within his own party and from without by political opponents at home and critics of his foreign policies abroad, President Eisenhower faces the most trying period of his administration.

This is the time in which his legislative program is being prepared for Congress. It includes his all-important budget and tax program for the next fiscal year.

In this period the President needs all the help and support that he can get.

It is generally conceded in Washington that he is not getting it.

In spite of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's assertion, "I am not challenging President Eisenhower's party leadership," he did just that. By "urging" Americans to write or wire the President, after both the President and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had made formal statements in defense of the administration foreign policy.

Massive Meals
At one time, custom of the court of Tsu Hsi, empress dowager of China, decreed that 100 different foods be served at each meal. Each food rested in a gold or silver dish made in the likeness of the food it held.

The President had just returned from his Thanksgiving holiday in McCarthy gave a direct challenge. The fine point that Senator McCarthy asked people to write or wire the President on only the question of allowing America's allies to trade with Communist China will be missed by most people.

McCarthy Suggestion Would Mean War With China

McCarthy, in his broadcast reply to President Truman, declared, "... we can blockade the coast of Communist China." Such a blockade is regarded by most international lawyers as an act of war.

To make war on Communist China, possibly precipitating a third world war, is a step the Eisenhower administration has not been willing to take. So a challenge to the entire foreign policy is at stake in the senator's stand on the one issue.

It seemed that the President looked more disturbed than at any time in the past year when he faced his Dec. 2 press conference. That was when he read the statement repudiating his belief that the Communist clean-out in government would no longer be an issue in 1954 and defending his foreign policy. The bounce, the sparkle in his eye and the big grin were somehow missing.

The President had just returned from his Thanksgiving holiday in Georgia. But he was not refreshed. He had had a couple of tough days of preparation, for he knew not what would happen at the Bermuda conference. The McCarthy revolt had not made his lot easier. He had been hurt. For a man accustomed to giving the orders and having them obeyed, this was something new.

PRESIDENT MUST BE ABLE TO TAKE ABUSE OF ALL KINDS

A president of the United States is supposed to have an alligator's hide. A thin-skinned man has no business occupying the office. If he can't take criticism, even unwarranted abuse, he is temperamentally unfit for politics.

What President Eisenhower is being forced to take, however, is more in the nature of a stab in the back from his own party.

It has not come just from McCarthyism. A little group of isolationists under the leadership of former Congressman Hamilton Fish of New York is actively organizing to buck the President's program of international cooperation with non-Communist nations. Another group, old-guard Republicans in Congress, is prepared to fight the President not only on foreign policy, but also on his domestic program.

Now that the President has the Bermuda conference behind him, he must prepare to meet these other challenges. His honeymoon is

1. Now, only in Ford Trucks—gas-saving, Low-FRICTION, high-compression, overhead-valve, deep-block engines in all truck models! 115- to 170-h.p.!

It's another great Ford FIRST! Ford now offers the only full line of ultra-modern Low-FRICTION truck engines! Short-stroke design cuts power-wasting friction up to 33%. More of the developed power is delivered to move your load—gas goes farther!

All Ford engines have deep-skirt, more rigid engine blocks—for better main bearing support and smoother performance. All five engines have Ford-designed overhead rotating valves for longer valve life. Ford gives you new higher compression with regular gas!

Over a billion miles of actual service have proved what these ultra-modern Ford Truck engines can deliver in performance and economy. Now, they're standard in all of Ford's more than 220 truck models. Yours, in the one right truck for your job!

NOW! 5 Ford engines offer the mightiest concentration of power per cubic inch ever in any truck line! V-8 and SIX!

For the power they develop, the engines in the 1954 Ford Truck line have less cubic inch displacement than engines in other-make lines. For example, Ford's 239 cu. in. Power King V-8 develops its 130 h.p. on as much as 43 cu. in. less displacement. Smaller-displacement engines normally need less gas! That's one big reason why Ford concentrated power offers greater economy!

No Mid-Year U.I. Commencement

CHAMPAIGN (AP)—No midyear commencement exercises will be held for 996 candidates for February degrees from the University of Illinois, it was reported today. The university said a convocation will be held Jan. 31, the day after final exams end, but commencement exercises won't be held because of a lack of student interest and a shortage of university funds.

The U. of I. said of 541 seniors who replied to a poll, only 210 indicated they desired the ceremonies.
